Mr. Davis on Lincoln and Himself.

A report of a recent interview with Jefferson Davis, printed in the Post Huron (Mich.) Commercial contains the following:

"The story was to the effect that about the time of the encounter at Hampton Roads, Mr. Lincoln had in some manner conveyed an intimation to Mr. Davis that the North would be willing to pay $100,000,000, for the liberation of the slaves on condition that the Southern States would withdraw the act of secession. This story Mr. Davis was emphatic in pronouncing entirely unmeasurable. He was requested and advised Mr. Lincoln to say, 'He was a wise man and a good man; he understood the law, and he knew that he was no authority given him to make such an offer. Neither would it have been in my power to accept it.' In the course of the conversation Mr. Davis was asked in relation to the propositions that had been made from time to time to elect him as Senator from Miss. ship, if he had ever given encouragement to such a scheme. 'All the people of the State were willing,' said Mr. Davis, 'with the exception of those who left our side of the fidelity of his friends. I believe I was the only man who did. You will remember that I wrote a letter publicly denouncing that letter was published. I am of record. It belongs to the past. I am a private citizen now, and feel that the past should go by. I am willing to abide by the record.'

CHAMPAGNE SPARKLING BEER, at McBURNEY'S.

The greatest joy of this season is the moving of the winter's snow. None of the other pleasures of May than springing house cleaning can compare with this event, which all the family look forward to with intense expectation, and which never fails to put in the best of humor, by having them done away at STANSBURY'S CENTRAL STORE, where you will save much money, and have them in good order to put up when the cold weather comes. Remember the place—McBurney's building, corner King and Washington streets.
